Lee Tannenbaum - President, Mill Supply Div

Lee has been in the industry for nearly 30 years. In that time, he has trained a successful sales team and many sales staffs of Mill Supply's loyal dealers. Lee has developed many themes for seminars over the past 15 years. This year's presentation will be comprised of all NEW material and aimed at giving you and your business a competitive edge in 2010.

As a sales executive, Lee has garnered many individual and team sales rewards. He looks forward to working with you and your sales representative on a custom made success strategy.

Eric Halter - Founder, EFHalter Associates

Eric Halter is founder and principal of EFHalter Associates in Concord, New Hampshire. Eric uses his 20+ years of experience working as a consultant to non-profits and small businesses in technology planning, facilitation, organizational development and training.

Eric has worked as a project manager, people manager and technology professional at universities, consulting firms, non-profit organizations and large financial institutions. His experience gives him a broad knowledge base to draw from to help teams and organizations large and small more effectively manage their technology, their people and their projects.

He conducts training seminars for the New Hampshire Center for Non-Profits and the Browne Business Education Center at the University of New Hampshire in subjects including Project Management, Managing Business Change and a variety of technology topics.

Originally from New York State, Eric spent 8 years living and working in Hawaii and has been a resident of the New Hampshire for over 10 years.
